Our monthly fraud newsletter will be emailed to customers at 6:00 p.m. today. Please preview below.

Identity Theft and other Fraudulent Activity

Keeping your information secure is our top priority!

Have you or someone you know been victims of fraudulent activity or Identity Theft? In this newsletter, one will find helpful information to navigate the difficulties that coincide with fraud. Always remember to keep private information secure and regularly change your passwords.

Have you Been a Victim?

Suppose you feel that you are a victim of identity theft or fraud. In that case, placing a fraud alert RIGHT AWAY on your credit report is essential by contacting one of the following three nationwide credit reporting companies...

Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion

Fraud Alerts: Allow credit reporting companies to look closely at your account for suspicious activity. Fraud alerts typically expire after one year, but extended alerts can be placed on active accounts for seven years.

After your identity is compromised, you can also freeze your credit file.

Security Freezes: Accounts are available to be "frozen," which means that one's credit file will not be available for access or allow new accounts to be opened in your name during the freeze time. Each freeze will be communicated to the three credit reporting companies individually.

Need Help Reporting Identity Theft?

IdentityTheft.gov can help you report and recover from identity theft.

Explain your situation and answer some questions. They will use that information to create a personal recovery plan.
